

Nature's Corridor

Reflections of the American River Parkway

Viewpoint Photographic Art Center Gallery exhibition

November 9th - December 4th 2011

by Stephen Fischer

www.stephenfischerphotography.com

Exhibit opening reception:

Friday, November 11th, 5:30 – 9:00 PM

Second Saturday exhibit:

November 12th, 5:30 – 9:00 PM

A beltway of preserved land on both sides of the American River, the Parkway provides a natural and scenic sanctuary from the nearby hustle and bustle of the Sacramento metropolitan area. With its continuous bike trail and many hiking paths, it is a popular recreation area considered by many as the crown jewel of the Sacramento region. Serving as a corridor for a wide range of wildlife, some passing through from the sea or the mountains, others thriving within this area year round, coexisting within surrounding man-made developments. This exhibit presents images of this natural corridor, reflecting the beauty and serenity of the American River Parkway. The public is welcome to visit the Viewpoint Gallery during the exhibition dates above including the opening reception on November 11th or Second Saturday showing on November 12th to see and enjoy some of what the American River Parkway has to offer.

Viewpoint Photographic Art Center: 2015 J st, midtown Sacramento, phone: 916-441-2341
Regular hours: Tuesday - Thursday: 12 - 6 PM, Friday - Saturday: 12 - 5 PM